LAWASIA in association with the Commonwealth Lawyers Association, the Fiji Law Society, the South Pacific Lawyers' Association, and the International Law Section of Law Council Australia, is very pleased to invite the participation of members and legal professionals at the LAWASIA Alternative Dispute Conference, to be held in Denarau, Fiji, from Friday 9 to Saturday 10 September 2022.

Alternative dispute resolution, in its various forms, is of increasing significance in the South Pacific. Whilst the process is becoming increasingly common, it is also becoming more challenging, especially as it is applied to new and emerging issues and the challenges faced in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

At this conference, leading international and local experts will share thematic insights on topics such as International Commercial Arbitration and the Singapore Convention on Mediation, as well as their views on recent ADR developments.

As a conference bonus, registered delegates are entitled to attend, at no additional cost, an interactive workshop on 9 September 2022 at which international experts will provide an overview of essential ADR theory and key issues.

This is intended as both an introduction for those with limited experience in the area of ADR, and a refresher for more experienced practitioners, with a view to equipping delegates to obtain maximum benefit from the main program.

We look forward to welcoming you all to an exciting and informative event in Fiji!
